This work on management accounting draws upon the authors' previous books "Success in Accounting and Costing" and "Problems and Projects", bringing the material up to date and adding three units on recent developments. A range of exercises is provided at the end of each unit, with answers. The book is designed to be of use to those taking intermediate level professional exams, particularly those of the CIMA; those undertaking BTEC National and Higher National Business and Finance and Public Administration courses; those in first year degree and degree-equivalent course in Business Management; and managers seeking to improve their grasp of the subject.
